Of Local Interest.

The circus Monday.

Two elephants with the circus Monday.

Strawberries are plentiful, the crop being unusually large.

$1.50 to Cincinnati Sunday. Train leaves Lancaster at 5 a. m.

Is this your paper, or are you reading the copy sent to some other person?

Many old codgers are getting ready to "take the children" to the Circus Monday.

The "flying dutchman" and ferris wheel made more money than the combined efforts of all the other shows last week.

Last summer straw hats have been a little slow in making their appearance, but they are here all right.

When you go to Sun Bro's circus Monday, notice the absence of a cat, penny fairs, cane racks, baby racks, etc. Nothing but the lemonade stand is permitted on their grounds.

Master Commissioner J. M. Rothwell and Mr. John Anderson caught a cat fish, at mouth of Paint Lick, which weighed 62½ pounds. It was caught with a trot-line, and attracted much attention when brought to town.

Mr. S. H. Anderson has our thanks for a box of delicious strawberries. They were the largest ever grown in this section. He has a patch of four acres, this year's crop being the largest in size and numbers he has yet raised.

Beer Walton Jollies Us.

Lexington Democrat: Louis Landram's Lancaster Record is one of the few country papers that always has something in it that will do to read twice. Mr. Landram is as mild a mannered man as ever cut a throat or scuttled a ship and doesn't have to shoot his patrons to make them understand.

Made Little Money.

The carnival people say they made little or no money in Lancaster last week, the farmers being too busy to come in and patronize the shows. The town people attended every day, but there were so many dead head tickets that the box receipts fell short. The Odd Fellows made very little on their venture.

Garrard County Boy Honored.

Mr. J. B. Wallace, who is assistant treasurer for the Carter Dry Goods Co., Louisville, was last week elected first Lieutenant of the Y. M. C. A. company, which forms part of the recently organized Louisville Legion. The company is made up of tall men. Wallace, who stands six feet 1½ inches being an average.

Other Man Always Wins.

The fakirs with the street fair "took in" several people for good size wads of cash, but the latter grumbled and said nothing. In this, they displayed good judgment, for a man who will go up against another fellow's game ought to have sense enough to know who will lose. One good old darkey lost $7.50, but took his medicine like a man, and said nothing.

Takes Charge as Minister.

The Rev. Mr. Ellis, who comes to take charge of the local and Buckeye Baptist churches, as pastor, preached two excellent discourses at the Lancaster church Sunday. The congregations were delighted with his sermons. He has rented Mrs. Fisher's property, on Lexington street, and moved there last week. He will preach at Buckeye Sunday.

Good Order Prevalled.

The people owe Chief of Police "Injun" Rothwell and his deputies a vote of thanks for the splendid order preserved during the street fair. There was no disorder to speak of, and, although several tanked up considerably, there was no boisterous conduct. "Injun" gave several youngsters a shaking and a certain lecture, which had a better effect than placing them in jail.

Hung Jury in Johnson Case.

The case of Capt. Wm. Herndon, administrator of M. W. Johnson, against the New York Life Insurance Company, for policies amounting to near $60,000 was tried in Louisville last week, and resulted in a hung jury. Capt. Herndon tells The Record that a majority of the jurors were for Johnson. This is the case that arose shortly after Johnson's death some years ago, the companies claiming that premiums had not been paid. It will come up for trial again in November.

The Tournament.

Entries in the contests in the Tournament continue to roll in, and now show a larger list than have ever taken part in similar events in Kentucky. The prizes are all good, which secured the large entry lists. The Tournament will be held week after next. The citizens are coming up nicely in agreeing to entertain visitors. The undertaking is a large one, but Lancaster people have always taken care of strangers within their gates, and there is no danger of falling down now.

Mrs. F. M. Tindler sent us a box of delicious strawberries grown at their new home, the old Currey place. The bed is one of the best in the county.

Examinations for admission to Princeton University will be held in the Walters School, Richmond, June 16, 17 and 18 and for admission to Yale University, June 29, 30 and July 1.

More Honors for Paul Miller.

It is very gratifying, indeed, to the young man's host of friends here in his home town to learn that Mr. Paul Miller stood at the head of his class at Annapolis Naval Academy again this year. The examinations have just been completed and the cadets are on a three month's cruise. Mr. Miller is a Third Classman this year. To even pass at the Annapolis school requires more hard study than the requirements of any school in this country, and the fact that Mr. Miller stood at the head of his class is an honor of which the people of his native town are very proud.

Good Whisky.

The fact that a little good, pure whisky is a good thing to have around the house is well known to most every body. So why not be sure to have the best? If you want whisky for medicinal purpose, order some from the Edgewood Distilling Co., owned by Paxton Bros., at Gilbert's Creek. They have only the very best, and at reasonable prices, too. Mr. Traylor knows his business, and turns out nothing but the pure article. Have him send in a jug, if you have much sickness in your family, or, if you want to make a friend happy, send him some.

Uninstructed Delegation.

The democratic county convention, held last Saturday to select delegates to the State convention, which met in Louisville yesterday, was largely attended. Hon. W. G. Gooch presided, and Mr. G. B. Swinebroad was secretary. The following delegates were selected, and sent to the state convention uninstructed: M. D. Hughes, chairman, C. A. Robinson, Alex. Gibbs, S. D. Cochran, W. L. Lawson, R. H. Tomlinson, W. G. Gooch. They were united on Senator James B. McCreary for delegate-at-large to national convention, but differed as to choice for president.

A Bad Practice.

Throughout the land there is an inclination to employ a teacher of "my party," "my church," or to suit "my children," whether any one else is pleased or not, and a great many trustees will vote only to reward some friend or punish some enemy, or for some sister's cousin's wife's daughters son-in-law to be their teacher, or let their school go to the how-woos. Such narrowness is so contemptible that it ought to be downed and kept down. A man who is so narrow should never get hold of even one small string in control of a school.

W. C. T. U. in Arkansas.

Mrs. W. A. Yantis, formerly of Lancaster, sends The Record a program of the Arkansas W. C. T. U. state convention, which was held in her home city, Paragould, recently. One of the Paragould papers, in its account of the meeting says: "An interesting feature of last night's meeting was the music, and part performed by the children of the Loyal Temperance Legion. Under directions of Mrs. Yantis, they rendered two excellent songs, and gave evidence of patient and pious training. The community owes a debt of gratitude to Mrs. Yantis for her labors with the youth, and her wholesome influence of her example upon their lives."

The Old Wheel-Hoss.

During our absence Judge M. D. Hughes has kindly consented to take charge of The Record, so next issue will be under his supervision. It is well-known that almost every man in town knows how a newspaper ought to be run, but finding some one to undertake the job is a difficult task. He who holds down the goods box, and he who has only a few hours work each day and puts in most time talking about other people's business, are experts at "knowing" how a paper should be run, but these sages will never undertake it, or any other job where they have to work from sun to sun. Judge Hughes is an old newspaper man, and, while the harness may rub a little in spots, yet he will pull the load to the top of the hill.

An Old Coin.

One day last week Mr. John M. Duncan found a Spanish coin in the old race track field, bearing the date 1786. It contains the Spanish coat of arms, and several inscriptions. It is larger than a silver dollar and is remarkably well preserved. The field was used years ago as a race track, as a race track, being owned by Mr. M. H. Gill, and previously by his father. Some of the best racers of the country were trained on that track, Goldsmith Maid and other equally as noted ones receiving their training there. Race horse men from all over the United States visited this track, and it is supposed the coin found last week was dropped by one of them. This old track has quite an interesting history, which we hope to publish in The Record at some near date. Mr. Duncan gave the coin to Master Joseph Rogers, who has quite a collection of old coins.

Services at Poor House.

The W. C. T. U. will hold services at the Alms House next Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Rev. C. M. Chumbley will preach.

Deserved Compliment.

Hon. Sam D. Cochran of Garrard, was elected an alternate delegate to the National Democratic convention, by the state convention held in Louisville this week.

Bloomer Girls Coming.

The Lancaster base ball team has arranged for a game with the Bloomer Girls next Thursday, the 16th, at Athletic Park. The Bloomer Girls have played in Lancaster before and have a good team.

Flower Mission Day.

Sunday is flower Mission Day, and the W. C. T. U. will hold services at the Rest Rooms, commencing promptly at 2 o'clock, p. m. An interesting program has been arranged and all members are urged to be present.

Music for Tournament.

The management for the Tournament are figuring of securing the splendid Lexington Military Band and Orchestra (formerly Saxton's), to play each day, brass in day time and orchestra at the several entertainments at night. This will prove a big draw card, and bring great pleasure to our people.

Death of Prominent Boyle Citizens.

Boyle county sustained a great loss Tuesday, in the death of county Judge Wm. E. Frewitt and Mr. James Kinnaird. They were leaders in all that was for the good and betterment of their community, and good, christian citizens. The death of such men is a serious loss to the ranks of those who live for the betterment of mankind.

Physical Culture.

The class in physical culture, under the direction of Prof. T. C. Adams, began work Tuesday evening, and is making fine progress. Physical culture is very popular, and the benefits therefrom are wonderful, indeed. Many of the leading citizens are members of the class, as it is particularly beneficial to people whose work confines them to the store or office. Prof. Adams is an old newspaper man and has made many friends in our city.

Elkin in the Race.

Mr. M. F. Elkin was seen by a Danville Advocate reporter at Stanford yesterday, and interviewed on his candidacy for the Senate in this senatorial district. Mr. Elkin said: "It has been reported that I am not going to make the race. Nothing could be a greater mistake. I have never for a moment given up the idea of running. The senatorial race is more than a year off now, and at this time the congressional race overshadows everything else, as it ought, but when the time comes for me to work for the nomination here in Lincoln county somebody will know there has been a fight, and you may set it down now in black and white that Elkin will win in a walk. Then, too, I can do the district more good than any other man, as I was the original Thorne supporter, and he has promised me when I come to the Senate that he will put me on one of the most important committees during my first term. But, said the reporter, what about the report that you are a non-resident? That, said Mr. Elkin, is all stuff, everybody knows that in primaries, general elections, and all kinds of races I have always voted in Lincoln county. I have never claimed any other place than Stanford as home. I still own my little cottage on Lancaster street, and my furniture is snugly packed away here in town. When I walk down Stanford's streets, I feel more at home than on any spot on earth, and I expect to live and die here among my home people. I have been away considerably, and have boarded in Lexington for some time, but that has been only a temporary headquarters while working up Maccabee lodges. Yes, I am a candidate, first, last and all the time, and now that it has been decided that it is Lincoln county's time you people in outside counties may count on having Elkin for next State Senator from this district."

The Show is Coming.

The Sun Brothers' new Railroad Shows, Trained Animal Exposition, are coming and with them the grandest array of talent ever seen or brought together. Aside from the educating and entertainment carnival, grand and valuable menagerie, this aggregation presents the cream of the acrobats, tumblers, aerial artists and educated horses. Lack of space prevents an extended account of the sterling attractions to be seen only with the Sun Brothers' new railroad Shows, but among them may be mentioned the marvelous Hill Family, four in number, the leaders of refined acrobats, poses and pyramids; the cute little riding pony; Madam Leon and her team of Arabian beauties; the Harrell Bros. in their sterling aerial acts; Prof. Leon and his school of six trained ponies; those Marion Boys and their performing donkeys, their score of beautiful, intelligent horses and the crowd of comical clowns, jesters, buffoons and pantomimists. There are a few of the attractions, but only a few. Two performances will be given daily, rain or shine, at 2 and 8 p. m. Grand free street parade at 11 o'clock on the morning of the day of exhibition. Lancaster, Monday, June 13.

INTERESTING CEREMONIES.

Programme for Kentucky Day at World's Fair Full of Stirring Events.

The plans for Kentucky Day—Wednesday, June 15—at the World's Fair are rapidly maturing. Indications point to this day being one of the greatest in the history of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. There will be cheap rates in effect from all places in the State to St. Louis. Two special trains will run from Louisville, one on the night of June 13, carrying the Kentucky Press Association, and one on the night of June 14, made up of the Louisville business men from the Board of Trade, Commercial Club and Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association. This train will have a private car attached with Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, his staff and State officials aboard, together with a committee of three from the Battleship 'Kentucky.' The editors, as has been before stated, will spend a day very pleasantly before Kentucky Day sight seeing. The business men's excursion will run direct to the World's Fair Grounds and will parade, headed by a band, to the Kentucky Building early on the morning of Kentucky Day. Breakfast will be taken at the German Restaurant, adjoining the German Government Pavilion.

The exercises of the day will begin at 11 o'clock at the State Building by the singing of "Green Kentucky Pastures," a song written by Mrs. Kate Slaughter McKimney, a former Garrard county lady, now living at Birmingham, Ala. Immediately following this song there will be a presentation of the "home-coming colors" of the Battleship 'Kentucky,' by a committee from this good old ship, to the Governor of the State. There will be addresses by a Kentuckian now in the navy and a Kentuckian now in the army.

The regular exercises for Kentucky Day will be held in Festival Hall and will include a recital on the big pipe organ—the largest ever built. President A. Y. Ford, of the Kentucky Commission, will preside and speeches will be made by President Francis, of the Exposition, a former Kentuckian, by Hon. Harry B. Hawes, of St. Louis, a former Kentuckian, who is the president of the Kentucky Society of St. Louis; by Governor Beckham, and others. At night, from 8 to 11 o'clock, there will be a reception at the Kentucky Building, admission by card. As previously stated, no invitations to Kentucky Day will be sent into Kentucky. Every Kentuckian is invited. All events of the day will be made distinctly "Kentuckian" as possible. Kentucky Building souvenir buttons will be given all visitors and a bunch of blue grass in the head will be pinned on each visitor. Of course, refreshments will be served both during the day and at the evening reception.

Doctor's Thrilling Experience.

Dr. J. B. Kinnaird, of this city, had an experience one night last week, which for excitement and danger surpasses anything that has happened in recent years. During the street fair and carnival, the doctor became greatly interested in Si, the snake eater, and visited the den at every opportunity. On the night in question, he was prepared to visit a patient in the country, and, bundled in a large overcoat, had started across the Public Square for Danville street. On reaching Si's tent, the desire to see the wonder overcame him, and, turning his steed over to a boy, mounted the platform and for some minutes stood aghast at Si's wonderful feats. The den was well filled with snakes, and, in some unaccountable manner, one of the reptiles escaped through a crack in the canvas, crawled out onto the platform and up the doctor's long, heavy overcoat. A large pocket furnished an inviting hiding place, and the snake crawled in, coiled up and prepared for a comfortable nap. The doctor left, entered his buggy and was soon several miles from town.

Desiring a chew of long grass, the doctor ran his hand into the pocket for his "twist" of "hillside," and one can imagine his plight when the cold, slimy reptile was felt. It moved instantly, and the doctor involuntarily clutched it about the neck, drawing it from the pocket. In attempting to throw it from the buggy, the snake wound about the doctor's neck, tightening its coils every moment. The scuffle in the buggy frightened the horse, which was soon running at a lively gallop. With the snake's head grasped in his right hand, he managed with his left to keep the horse in the middle of the road until Hubble was reached, and, by heroic efforts, the doctor turned the animal and headed him for Lancaster. The struggle to free himself from the large rattler continued to frighten the horse, which ran all the way back to Lancaster. The doctor's wonderful presence of mind aided him to steer the horse through the many tents on the Public Square and into Sweeney's livery stable, where the hands, under direction of Mr. J. W. Sweeney, the proprietor, soon caught the horse. A large crowd quickly gathered, and Mrs. Burnett and Acton produced their pocket cases and with surgical instruments soon had the reptile cut into many pieces. Dr. Kinnaird was exhausted from the great strain and excitement, but his brother doctors soon brought him around all right. "Doc" says he is now bitterly opposed to street fairs, and will help to hang the next snake eater who visits the town.

LOUIS LANDRAM.

Entered at the Post Office in Lancaster, Ky., as Second-Class Mail Matter.

Lancaster, Ky., June 10, 1904.

Young man do you want to get rich quick? Well, it seems comparatively easy these days, provided you have a little start and some tact. But you'll have to give up something! You'll have to give up your conscience, for you won't need it at all, says the Hartford Herald. And if you have a kind heart, you'll have to give up that. You'll have to drop your charitable regard for your fellow man. Just size him up from a strict financial standpoint. If you have a streak of benevolence running through you, it will soon leave of itself, likewise your kind hearted nature. You must discard your interest in any appeals of the poor and needy. Remember that there is no financial value in them for you. If you have ever thought about heaven and a hereafter, better cease your meditations along that line, for there is no place there to invest your cash. After you have dropped these and a few other kindly human instincts, you will be in a fair way to get rich. Will you be happy? We're not talking about happiness. That's another question entirely from the one under discussion.

Paul Moore, the genial editor of the Earlinton Bee, knocks centre when he says: The fellow who sits all day doing nothing and complaining that everything goes wrong and nothing goes right is the man who is really in hard luck, and he alone is responsible for this state of affairs. If you want to succeed in life stop knocking, stop meddling with other people's business and go to work. The man or woman who goes about town with a long face, complaining that times are hard, that the necessities of life are too high and envying their neighbors' good fortune only make themselves miserable and in no wise better their condition, financially or otherwise. If you would have things nice in your home, if you would lay by something for a rainy day, if you would be happy, cheerful and contented, go to work, quit knocking and keep busy.

About 2 a. m., at Winchester last week, a freight train backed into a side track, and a fellow who was sleeping under some cars was mangled and killed. Here is a fine chance to sue the railroad company, as it is evident the trainmen failed to go under every car to see if any one was there. It is a shame that the company would move the cars and disturb sleepers, anyway. The track and cars were made for people to sleep on and under, and the company had no business running its old engine there. If the average country jury gets a whack at the company it will give a verdict for many thousand dollars damage.

Some time ago, Sully, a millionaire stock broker, on Wall street, failed. We notice where creditors are now making a fight for his pew in St. Bartholomew church, claiming it to be an asset. As deeds to "pews" in those rich churches carry no title to wings in the Great Beyond, or have any more connection with a soul's salvation than a harp of a thousand strings has with a deck of cards, we see no reason why Sully's pew should not be put up "before the court house door" and knocked off to the "highest and best bidder."

The troubles of woman seem to increase instead of diminish. Just as she is in the midst of house cleaning, and undergoing the trying ordeal of getting the sweet girl-graduate ready for commencement, here comes along a Lexington Judge who decides that a man has the legal right to whip his wife. Our sympathy goes out to the gentler sex on the two former propositions, but not in the latter, for the simple reason that not one man in a hundred will undertake the task of whipping Sallie-Ann.

This year's meeting of the Kentucky Press Association bids fair to be the largest and best in many years. Every paper, which is more than one year old, is entitled to membership. Every editor should attend these meetings, as he learns new methods, gets acquainted with the craft and by mingling with the boys gets out of his old cut-and-dried ways. The trip this year is inexpensive, and all quill-drivers should make it a point to go.

The newspapers are largely discussing "the naval lessons of the war." There have been many lessons, but the chief one to impress itself on world powers is that a punctured battleship isn't as valuable as a punctured automobile tire.

The Winchester Democrat speaks of a young man who tried to go a "champagne gait on a beer salary." This is a neat way of expressing it, and there are many roosters today going just that gait.

An Indiana minister advises young men to have nothing to do with girls who flirt. Recently a Chicago college professor said flirting was a part of a liberal education. Pay your money and take your choice.

In many cities of this country married teachers are barred. In the Philippines women must be married or engaged before they can get positions as instructors. Verily, this is a nation of contradictions.

Louisville papers tell of the awarding of the "Mabel" prize to a party of society people. It is safe to predict that the prize was a boot jack.

The Record extends congratulations to our good neighbor, the Harrodsburg Herald, upon its successful civic league edition.

The Louisville courts are giving Chicago a close race in the matter of granting divorces.

Startling Evidence.
Fresh testimony in great quantity is constantly coming in, declaring Dr King's New Discovery for Consumption Coughs and Colds to be unequalled. A recent expression from T J McParland, Bentonville, Va. serves as example. He writes: "I had Bronchitis for three years and doctored all the time without being benefited. Then I began taking Dr King's New Discovery, and a few bottles wholly cured me." Equally effective in curing all Lung and Throat troubles, Consumption, Pneumonia and Grip. There will probably be a somewhat larger crop of peaches than was indicated by previous reports.

Tobacco plants are quite small, especially in the Burley district. Transplanting progressed slowly, being retarded by dry weather and the smallness of plants.

Oats are doing very well. Grasses and pastures have suffered from rain, but are now improving; the yield of early hay will be short. Late forage crops, such as peas, cane and millet are being sown.

The export trade in bananas from Porto Rico to the United States began in 1881, and has grown from 3,500 bunches to upwards of 4,000,000 bunches, annually.

Corn is generally thrifty and the soil in good condition. A good deal of corn was destroyed by cut worms, but the ravages of these pests are now lessened.

The first box of cherries shipped from California this year was sold in Chicago for $25-$32 a pound. Carload shipments from Sacramento Valley districts began May 13th, when a carload of cherries were shipped from Vacaville.

Wheat in the northeastern and some of the central counties is very poor, but it has improved generally, and in many of the western counties a fair yield is expected. On the whole, the prospect is much better than at the close of the winter, though there cannot be near a full crop.

Last year for the corresponding month receipts were 22,558,549 bushels. For the four months ending April, 61,269,968 bushels were received in 1904 and 89,697,393 bushels in 1903.
